

Welcome to Unaweep Canyon

This open space land is privately owned by the

Access Fund

Public access is offered in accordance with the Colorado Recreational Use Statute (C.R.S. 33-41-101 et seq.)

If you choose to use this area you are voluntarily assuming all risk of injury or death from your use. Numerous hazards exist on the property, some of which may not be obvious or apparent. These hazards include, but are not limited to: steep unguarded cliffs; slippery surfaces; steep and unmaintained walkways, trails, and roadways; loose and unstable rocks and ice; falling objects; the possible failure of fixed climbing anchors; and the conduct of other users.

Climbers Be Aware: The Access Fund does not maintain any fixed climbing hardware, including bolts. The Access Fund makes no representations or warranties regarding the safety, reliability, or suitability for use of any fixed climbing anchors or other hardware currently existing or installed in the future at Sunday, Fortress, and Hidden Valley Walls.

Please support the Access Fund, a tax-exempt non-profit corporation, for its invaluable assistance in acquiring Sunday, Fortress, and Hidden Valley Walls and its support in maintaining hiking trails.
